SPEAKERS

Susan Greene, Petfinder.com

As a member of the shelter outreach team, Susan is the first point of contact for shelters and placement groups at Petfinder.com. Susan worked as a humane officer with the Tompkins County (N.Y.) SPCA. She then spent 17 years in an academic setting, first in law enforcement and then with the biology department at Ithaca College. From 1994-2004 she ran a wildlife control and rescue business which stressed humane control methods. Due to an increasing number of requests for help with free-roaming cats, that business became a feral cat rescue in 2004. Susan holds a B.A. degree in philosophy from Ithaca College and is completing an M.S. in communication. She uses those skills to help mediate conflicts that may arise on Petfinder. She lives in rural New York state with six purrsonal cats and a cat facility for formerly feral felines who are up for adoption on Petfinder.com!

Suzan Shaw, Care Feline Rescue and Orange County Animal Services Advisory Board

Suzan is a high-achieving sales and business manager, experienced in training internal and external sales and operations teams in diverse subject matter. Her mission and achievement of goals are in a focus-driven community-based organization, working towards ending the homeless animal population through her experiences of fundraising and highlighting the organization's attributes. Qualifications include a bachelor's degree in marketing, extensive training in public speaking, and service on numerous boards/committees for animal health and safety.

SEMINAR TOPICS:

- Marketing Your Pets Online
- Grassroots Fundraising
- A Closer Look at Adoption Strategies
- Training Dogs for Adoptability and Long-Term Housing

A CLOSER LOOK AT ADOPTION STRATEGIES

2 pm – 3:15 pm

Dr. Steve Notaro, University of Illinois

How many potential adopters are there in your community? The answer: probably more than the number of pets in your care. This workshop will help you determine how many pets you can potentially place, based on your population, and will offer a plan to move your adoption program into the stratosphere by re-examining the "facts" behind adoption.

BREAK

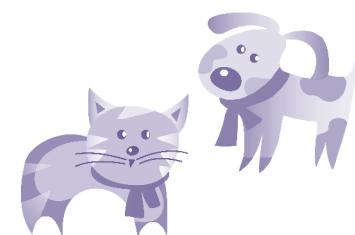

3:15 pm – 3:30 pm

TRAINING DOGS FOR ADOPTABILITY AND LONG-TERM HOUSING

3:30 pm – 5 pm

Pia Silvani, St. Hubert's Animal Welfare Center

Every dog has its own story of how it came to the shelter. Some may have been abandoned, some were relinquished due to normal doggie behaviors that the owner did not anticipate and others may have never had the benefit of being loved by humans, wandering the streets or beaches around our country. One thing they all have in common is that they are homeless and need training. Because behavioral wellness is just as important as training for good manners, Pia will go over various techniques and goals for a successful training program as well as giving tips on creating a program for those dogs that unfortunately are housed for long periods of time—longer than we would like to see.

All attendees will receive:

Educational materials, breakfast, lunch, an Adoption Options t-shirt and a gift from the PETCO Foundation
DRESS CASUALLY AND BE COMFORTABLE

Dr. Steve Notaro, PhD, University of Illinois

Steve has over 20 years experience in animal welfare as an executive director and a board member of a humane society and national groups. Steve is currently a professor at the University of Illinois, teaching strategic planning, statistics and ethics. Steve is a former SAWA board member, cofounder and president of the Illinois Animal Welfare Federation, member of the AHA shelter advisory board and advisor to the National Council on Pet Population Study and Policy. Most recently, Steve was involved in a research study on the impact of pit bulls on shelters.

Pia Silvani, St. Hubert's Animal Welfare Center

Pia is director of training and behavior at St. Hubert's Animal Welfare Center in Madison, N.J. Pia writes behavior articles for the shelter's newsletter and library and contributes articles to many shelter newsletters around the country. She lectures on animal behavior internationally and routinely consults with various shelters around the world. She is past vice president of the Association of Pet Dog Trainers and Certification Council for Professional Dog Trainers. She is on the Advisory Committee of the Animal Rescue League of Boston and radio host of Teacher's Pet on www.petliferadio.com. Pia shares her home with husband, Marty, as well as their two Belgian Tervurens. In her spare time, she and her dogs successfully compete in obedience, rally-o, agility, and tracking.

All lunches are vegetarian. Please check here if you need a vegan meal.
